Okay ill explain (to my best ability) each thing on here. (ill elbaorate more if anyone has any specific questions but its A lot.)

 (Silly Symbol / Love Incarnate)
This is my own personal “protection” symbol/more like my signature on things. I put it everywhere and even have a more clean rip (see below) its meant to read as “=♡” while also doubling as the shape of a barette. I view myself heavily as a manifestation of love/acceptance. Im not inherently christian, but im a big love thy neighbor guy. Not in the “turn the other cheek” way, but more in passion? I refer to myself as empathy a lot which i do jive with but i think it can kind of come off as im saying im an uber empath. Its more like, i accept to human and inhuman condition to the max and exert it onto you. Im a mirror/ a reflection of your feelings. Maybe just not ones youd first expect?

I use this symbol to signify myself (silly/mae/empathy/aleph whatever). And i also used to dash a little love or emotion in general on people. I plastered it on my jackshrine for examples to weed away Al in specific. And to entice Jack. its very flexible and usually just implements my feelings.

 (Jack Symbol/Apathy Incarnate)
This is not super spiritual rooted (not that ive felt or observed yet.) its majoritively actually just a cute little signifer. I like to imagine jack as my parallel or my other half or my opposite. A horse shoe situation of being different but also one in a kind? I think apathy (the lack of emotion) is just as impactful as passion. So i put a ton of “X”s on Jack. also hes a super unempathetic/apathetic as a person. (insert massive heart here)

(me cameo on jacks wall btw hehehehe)

 Triple Scars(?)

(theres a separate rule of 3s here but ill elaborate later.)

“X” symbol see above for explanation but. The Scars themselves represent a lot.

The lowest/lefttmost one is an allusion to Genesis 3:24. And generally satan being stabbed by Micheal and banished from heaven with a sword. But it is as implicitly self inflicted (all of jacks wounds are lol.) As he has cast himself out from people who would be sincerely accepting of him. His middle wound is just a cliche “he got his heart ripped out”. Blah blah blah. The last, and smallest above and most right is just his real body booby scar. I made it an x to fit the themeing, and it represents his last strand Of sexuality. (14 year old jack talking about his ribs and scars all day.)

 Tribe Twelve Symbol / Severance

OKAY this is gonna be long so buckle up.
When i was 12~ I was super schizo crazy and had horrific “hallucinations” and the only way i could save myself from being harassed and stalked by weird white and black figures was by etching this symbol into everything. I dont think tribe twelve literally exists (well, ill divulge “this” later.) but this was my first instance of utlizing symbols in my everyday life to keep myself safe. It specifically stands as “Severance”. A symbol that “severs” you from something. (Its completely protection based. It keeps you isolated as well tho. So I did spend a lot of my late middle school completely alone for the most part.) (Depending. On its usage it can apparently also connect you to things? I havent dabbled in this At All tho.) I dont use it that much anymore, but in my old home I had it plasted everywhere. I had a journal with it, I put it on my mirror to keep my bathroom safe. I wrote it mostly a lot in my room to also keep People out of it. Which worked!

Halo Of The Sun (simplified)

Halo Of The Sun is from the Silent Hill Series. (Which this is also kind of long so im condensing it.)
TLDR I am heavily connected to Silent Hill (the concept and literal town.) Especially the themes about fertility, rape, loss and resurrection/rebirth. As well as a manifestation of love, I do see myself as a manifestation of All These Other Things. More condensedly I am a product of “Silent Hill.” Silent Hill not existing as just a “Town”, but as an idea of grief and stronger emotions forming from trauma or impactful events turning into more tangible metaphysical manifestations. Its hard to simplify. I know my conception, body and also as a headmate was very traumatic for everyone involved, and my existence as a person has been the same.
The pieces from the symbol I took were the outer ring, meaning “charity”, and the 3 circles that represent the Past, The present and the future. This same rule of threes also applies to Jacks Chest Scars. (his bibilic wound being past, his heart wound being present and his boobie wound being future.) (the boobie wound in this question just represents jack inevitable descent into facing his past IRONICALLY.) The original Halo Of The Sun represents a lot of things. I wont do it grace by describing it myself, even if it has separate meanings from the game to me. The biggest take away is it represents Progression and Contiunation through “Holes”

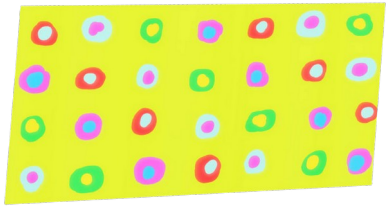
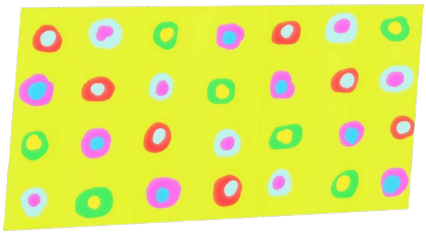
It also represents Saving/Safety

This is why I chalk it up to just Progression of Life. In its most ugliest and raw ways. The symbol itself To Me just represents the flow of time and existence as me and myself. I never use it directly but specific themes from it are represented in other ways.



(these in their own sense are Halos Of The Sun)



(The Suicide Shower Curtain lol)
This in of itself has a lot of meaning to me solely through jack. Rebirth, through Death and suicide is a major theme that has followed my own life and his. This curtain follows him through most of his childhood and i think is a reflection of stagnation as well. Lack of change In Chaos. While Also seeing it in your last moments. Changing without real change. Feeling the same, while everything is very different.

They've come to witness the beginning
The rebirth of paradise despoiled by mankind

They've come to witness the beginning
The rebirth of paradise despoiled by mankind
Remember me and your true self as well
Also that which you must become
The one who will lead us to paradise
With blood-stained hands...

(This is Also a Halo of The Sun like I said. Its a piece of me and him together, but more formally its passageway into an intimate area. (his shower) (white european things of only getting nakey in shower and almost killing yourself there and also being alone with your thoughts plus big household so only place where he gets total privacy.)

Collars

This is very straightforward. Ownership. I think owning is a really interesting concept and i know a part of me is owned by jack and vice versa. The collar specifically represents his own shackling feeling. (ronette my dear dont ever disappear)
He is a slave to his own condition! I also experience this, and depict myself with a collar when Im feelings particularly shackled or owned in a negatiuve way.

Its not that serious, its horny if anything. Especially the bell, which is an omage to “no matter what, ill always know where you are.”

The Spiral/The Circle

Oh wow! This is a big one. I dont know if i can condense this...
It has a lot of different ideas to it. Its almost my own personal Halo Of The Sun..
Picking it apart piece by peace goes like this..
Spirals/Circles have already been described thoroughly in this doc. If you dont knwo ummm you werent paying attention lol. Holes, The Halo, Repetition, Cycles. ETC.

Consuming ten billion years in an instant
And I'll come to you without a second thought
I'm here, I'm here - on the border of the circle

Circle Of Life and Rebirth are the two major themes to keep in mind. The Black and White itself is a ying/yang sentiment to me. The Hearts themself are my own personal touch in the belief of the Cycle of Love. (Hot and Cold/Passion and Empathy.) Penetrating the Circle because mnrrghh penetration. (No literally. Sexual Innuendo completely sincere. Penetration of people hearts and coitus are very important themes to me.)
Taken from the music video “mesmerizer” and slightly altered, I feel in love with the symbol. I do also appreciate the overall theme of Mesmerization. Its a pattern, hypnotism. You are attracted to contiunung to pursue relationships and penetrate/bite/love the ones you interact with. You are mesmerized into the cycle!!!

God, do you see the radiant light?
Do you hear the beautiful chant?
Do you feel the tender warmth?
Nothing here

Red/Black and White leitmotifs

Combidning these because their both color focused plus pretty short.

Red glasses are just another personal signifier. Nothing special, I like putting them on things that arent “tradtionally me” to show that It Is Me.

The square is lesser known and ties more in with the Spiral/Circle. As its another reductive form that I can Sneak In without worrying about getting the shapes i need right. Black and White again are just reductive Yin and Yang themes. While specifically the white dress my “persona” has is just a fun Lain allusion. Lain has her own connections to me, but shes otherwise separated. Our only combined traits being that we are both internet beings.. I really just got sick of drawing myself in the normal pessi outfit because it never felt right.

any kind of angel/devil motif

Christianity/Catholicism as a whole is a very intertwined subject between me and Jack. Ive had otherworldly ideas about myself before fully immersing myself into the jackiverse. I have a long history with delusions of grandeur and being a god in my early jack existence because a lot of my alterhuman-ness. I also experienced a shit ton of religious based truama growing up (not to buzz word off.) Ultimately, I came to the conclusion that I exist in a space as a weird silent hill-esc manifestation, who also doubles as an internet nymph. Which in of itself, has mixed with my spiritual and maladpative/abstract concepts of Life in general.
THis is all to say, I dont think Jack is literally an angel. As in the literally biblical way. But I do think he has a lot of powerful energy. As much as he is creation he is destruction. As much as he is apathetic, his feelings come down 100x fold. I portray him as an angel because he is kind of.. Salvation-y to me. Hes always acted as a weird.. Anchor?? In my life?? Midst of 2017/2019 is a blurr, but I remember Birdie as a concept keeping me grounded. Especially in 2019, I got very brain blasted by my connection to Jack. And while I was mutilating myself a lot, I dont think this was Because of Jack. If anything Im happy I had that experience, and have grown into a new and more aware person. Even if his name is engraved in my skin, its sincerely no different than the bond we already share.

OKAY sorry, that was a little sappy. But I am sincerely very grateful for him. And even at his worst repressed self I cant help but feel so affectionate. This is why he is an angel to me. And in some ways an angel to others? Even if this is a part of him that is weakened.
My own Devil Leitmotifs were kind of nothing. Mostly just stemmed from my original abstract appearance pulling from early 2023 Jack self portraits.

A lot of my early self portraits were very uninspired. LOL
